Distributed DNS and Authentication Using DHTs

Brendan Benshoof and Andrew Rosen

9/17/2013

What

- We want to create a distributed Domain Name Service.
- Requires a authentication service that works over a distributed service.

Why

- Recent events have demonstrated that centralized authorities are not as secure a previously hoped.
  - There is little cryptographic protection against the subpoena.
- A distributed approach for authentication is much less vulnerable the type of attacks